An Alleged Fatal Omission of the Principal Portion of a Section of the New Tariff Law Relating to Drawbacks on Tobacco-The Opinion is Not Unanimous that the Defeat will Cary Down the En-

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. - Senator McPherson very recently wrote as follows to a member of a prominent importing house in this city: "I beg to call your attention to the conference report and tariff bill sent you about ten days or two weeks ago-a quarto pamphlet of 214 pages. ## A Topic of Discussion in Official Circles in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.-The alleged fatal defects in the new Tariff bill formed an interesting topic of discussion in official circles yesterday, and, while the defects were not thought to invalidate the bill as a whole, the sentiment was almost unanimous that Section 30, of the tobacco paragraph, which was omitted in its entirety, could not be enforced, and where it by construction referred to other paragraphs it might impair their strength. As to the law signed by the President not being the law passed by Congress, Private Secretary Halford said the bill House and the President of the Senate These officers by their signatures certified that the bill had passed their respective branches of Congress and their attestation of the fact was the usual mode of procedure and the only official notification the President ever received that a bill had passed. MONEY AND BUSINESS.

The General Monetary and Commercial Outlook Throughout the Country According to R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review-The Volume of Business Large at Most Points and Collections Satisfactory-The Week's Failures, Etc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.-R. G. Dun &

Business continues large in volume and generally profitable. In many branches

Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

there is noteworthy expansion on account of the new opportualities which the revised tariff gives. Prices of stocks have been industriously assailed during the past week, but have declined comparatively little. Though the Trunk Line Association has made no perceptible progress toward a settlement, the rates charged seem to be rather more satisfactorily maintained. Mean-while the volume of other business is far greater than ever before, and the outlook is considered satisfactory at all commercial centers. Boston finds the boot and shoe trade encouraging and prices in that line are firm. Sales of wool are rather large, amounting to 4,264,300 pounds, but there is a distinct improvement in the market for woo en goods and manufacturers are more hopeful. Cotton goods are firm in price, while the raw material declines. At Philadelphia the trade is good. The trade in chemicals is fair in volume and the paint business is good, while money has become easy at 612 to 7 per cent. At Chicago there is a marked decrease in receipts of cured meats, dressed beef, lard, butter and hides, but in cheese and wool an increase, and the volume of business continues larger than a year ago, with satisfactory collections in dry goods and clothing. At St. Louis the state of business is healthy. The volume of business at Cleveland is much above last year's, especially in dry goods and clothing, though the unfavorable weather retards trade to some extent, and at Pittsburgh the manufacturing interests are flourishing, though lower prices are quoted kee trade is satisfactory and money usually active at 6 to 7 per cent. At St Paul trade is excelent, and at Minneapolis receipts of wheat reached 1,90,000 bushels. ver good There is rather more indication of monetary pressure at Southern centers, and at Savannah receipts of 59.414 bales cotton and large receipts of rosin and turpenhouses passed the Tariff bill, but in dif- | at Jacksonville, and only fairly active in the Louisiana region. The money markets are on the whole less disturbed than they were a week ago, but there is an increasing scarcity of funds at some of the Western which, I suppose, was entered upon the and Southern centers. The demand for boots and shoes continues encouraging, and advances in prices of hides and teather is maintained. The iron business is hesitating and bessemer iron is weak at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, but the demand for all finished products continues so large that the capacity of the mills seems to be strained to the utmost, and while no advance in price is reported, the market is everywhere trong. The markets for breadstuffs continue to advance. Wheat has risen 138 cents during the week, corn nearly 1 cent and oats nearly 2 cents. The foreign demand affords no support to this speculation, and the exports are far below these of the corresponding week last year. The market for cotton has yielded a sixteenth, and while exports are very heavy, the reports indicate the largest erop ever grown. Hogs are steady and pork a shade higher. The business failures during the last sevea days number: For the United States, 2 3; for Canada, 22; total, 225; as compared with a total of 227 last week. For the correspond signed by President Harrison was the ing week of last year the figures were 225, same bill signed by the Speaker of the representing 188 failures in the United States

A STORM-SWEPT COAST.

The Atlantic on a High and the Summer Resorts Along the Jersey Coast Suffer severely - The High Tide Encroaches Upon the Lower Portion of New York City, Doing Considerable Damage-The Fishing and Pleasure Bonts Along the Coast, Boat Houses, Bath, Houses, Etc.,

Furnish Food for the Waves. ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 25 .- The New Jersey sea-coast towns received their full share of the severe northeasterly storm that set in Thursday. All day yesterday it stormed with no abatement. The damage sustained to the shore towns from Sandy Hook to Barnegat inlet by the severe storm and heavy tides will foot up to thousands of dollars. The most severe damage was sustained at Monmouth Beach. The sea cut a gap into the bluff and made a clean sweep across the driveway about thirty feet wide. The Galilee fisheries just south of Sea Bright, were in a terrible state, the sea had washed and made a clean sweep among the fishing houses carrying destruction with it. In front of the big Octagon House, at Sea Bright, the heavy sea dashed up over the breakwater and into the basement of the hotel.

All along the Shrewsbury river on the other side of the driveway the high tide had wrought sad havoc. Every thing that was in the reach of the tide was swept away; boat-houses, summer houses, stables, could all be seen either adrift or standing in from eight to ten feet of water. At Normandie-by-the-Sea, the ocean swept over the tracks of the New Jersey Southern railroad, and made such bad breaks that at nine o'clock yesterday morning traffic had to be suspended. Much of the bluff at Asbury Park was washed away, and at Ocean Beach the boat-houses of Mr. Scofield were carried away.

The Asbury Park patrol of Life-Saving Station No. 6 had a difficult time on their beats. The wind blew the rain with so much force as to make progress almost impossible, and added to the rain was the heavy spray from the breakers, which increased the confusion. At Keyport the storm raged with much severity. Many of the small oyster sloops were driven ashore, and the unusually high tide was the means of doing considerable damage. The high tide caused much delay to travel along the line of the New York and Long Branch railroad. At Bay Way the tracks for half a mile were submerged to a depth of two feet. In the Raritan river draw the storm raged so fiercely that extra guards were placed along the tracks. Guards were also but on from Morgan to South Amboy to watch the tracks.

The Waters Encroach on New York City NEW YORK, Oct. 25 .- The storm which came down upon New York City proved to be one of unusual severity. The wind blew half a gale (which means thirty miles an hour), and with it was a heavy rain-fall. As the wind was on-shore it drove the waters of the bay up into the North and East rivers, and an extraordinary tide was the result When the tide was highest the water at the Battery was on a level with the top of the sea wall, three feet higher than it has been in years, and the water began running into the cellars along West street as far np-town as Chambers street. Soon it was over the bulkheads along the river front. A little later West street in the neighborhood of Vesey street was covered with water and, as usual, Everett's Hotel, at the foot of Vesey street, was flooded. There was a foot and a half of water on the dining-room floor, and the waiters were busy cleaning it up. The West End Hotel cellar, at No. 110 West street, was full of water, and dozens of men could be seen at work with handpumps getting the water out of the cellars of the buildings along the river front streets and some times fifty or one hundred feet back in the side streets.

West street was in a shocking condition. Below Dey street it is torn up and but little pavement is left. The street is a perfect sea of mud with half floating timbers, while paving blocks and castings are scattered about in every body's way. The black and slimy mud ruins every thing it touches, and few people care to cross the street unless it is absolutely necessary. The shop-keepers are disconsolate, and are looking ahead to the next tide, with fear for the consequences. On the East River it is the same story. Flooded cellars and a muddy street, with the water over the bulkheads at high tide. Pumps are busy there, and the damage has been principally to the tempers of the occupants of the buildings. The Hackensack river was higher than it has been for a long time, the water covering the floors of the manufacturing establishments at Little Ferry. The meadows were submerged and some of the railroad tracks were under water. Trains on the New York, Susquehanna & Western road ran through water most of the way from Little Ferry to West End.

At Revere Beach. Boston, Oct. 25 .- The high tide yesterday morning, due to the heavy easterly gale which prevailed, did more damage all along Revere Beach than was done by the storm early in the week. The Woburn House, at Crescent Beach, was lifted from its foundations and settled down in the sand. A photograph building near by was wrecked, and the lattice work of the substantially built palace bathing establishment was torn away. The cafe and the Waverly House at Oak Island suffered to some extent.
